

Deaneries & Parishes

The Episcopal Diocese of Central Florida comprises 81 congregations divided into five deaneries across 15 counties in central Florida. It includes over 200 active priests, approximately 100 active deacons, and over 24,000 parishioners.

The diocese is subdivided into five geographic areas known as "deaneries." Each deanery has an elected ordained priest that serves as the "dean" of that deanery for a three-year term and a deanery "president" who is an elected lay leader. The deaneries are intended to provide a network of geographically proximate churches and a support network of peers in the priesthood who understand each other's specific ministry settings and work together for the overall well-being of the entire deanery.

We hope you will explore each individual parish through the links provided in the following pages so that you get an idea of the Christian witness in worship and ministry throughout our diocese.
